The Inky history trail is made up for a set of challenges that charts the history of Henry Stephens the inventor of indelible blue black. I will start in our Boutique Museum and take teams through the Bothy Garden (A Victorian kitchen garden) and the Arboretum where they will be tasked with solving cryptic clues that will taking them on a journey of social history and innovation. This activity ends with a creativity session with our resident artist and photographer where teams will be asked to create an artistic interpretation of their 'Inky' experience.
